

Sakyadhita Canada

NEWSLETTER

OCTOBER, 2015

OPPORTUNITY to HELP

Sakyadhita Canada is looking for someone to fill the volunteer position of Treasurer. Accounting background is required, and living in Calgary would be helpful, but not

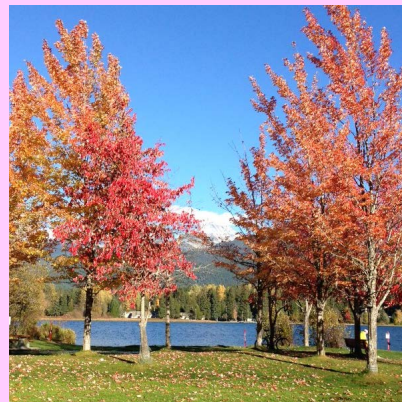

The Anagarika Memorial Celebration on September 13, 2015 at the Rosemary Heights Retreat Centre in Surrey B.C. celebrated Anagarika Dhammadinna's passing 25 years ago on September 19, 1990.

It was a day richly spent with sharing memories and photos, with friends, family and former students.

"Something that she would say to her students was: Tears are to the inside what rain is to the outside, they wash your heart. She taught her students to speak from their heart. There were many shared letters and one from Ajahn Sona of Birken Monastery, said that friends on the same path are like finding diamonds on the beach - in reference to Anagarika" necessary.

Please contact:
info@sakyadhitacanada.org

WELCOMING FALL

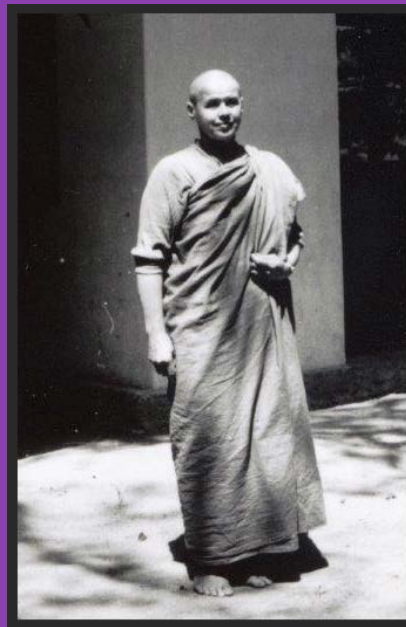

Please have a look at our Facebook page. Just click the icon on the right. You don't have to sign up, or belong, to Please CLICK HERE to read this complete submission by Bev Goodwin, who attended this event and was kind enough to share her day with us.

Committee, Eddie, Jean, Jayanta, Tenzin Dolma, Susan, Shurli, Leslie

In Sri Lanka, in 1964, Anagarika was ordained by the late Venerable Nyanasatta Thera, who gave her the name Dhammadinna. She preferred to be called Anagarika, a term used in Theravada Buddhism referring to "homeless one", a person who has given up most of their Abhidhamma study books. Probably some of the first books translated into English available to students.

Facebook to read it.

Tantric (Vajrayana) Buddhism

WHITE TARA

The White Tara deity is a mother-like figure that we visualize as the source of unconditional love, compassion, nurture, and availability. She radiates a clear white light in all directions and across the expanse of space. The light heals the hurt in our hearts and fills our longing for union.

'No Adaptation Required'

An Interview with Tantric
Buddhist teacher
Sangye Khandro.

By Donna Lynn Brown.

A freelance reporter, Buddhist practitioner, and Sakyadhita
Canada member.

[CLICK HERE TO READ
COMPLETE INTERVIEW](#)

worldly possessions and responsibilities to commit fully to a Buddhist practice.

"The day was a beautiful way to celebrate the teachings and the dedicated teacher, Anagarika Dhammadinna who enabled others to have a taste of the teachings for themselves. A more detailed description of the day, and photos, are posted on the Sakyadhita Canada website

Sakyadhitacanada.org

What follows are a few personal reflections."

IN GRATITUDE

By Wendy McAdam

SUKHI HONTU...'May All Beings be Happy'

To view more pictures, please visit our web site...

Sakyadhitacanada.org

About Us

If you are interested in more information regarding Sakyadhita Canada, or would be interested in contributing to our newsletter please go to : info@sakyadhitacanada.org or you can also access our website at

SakyadhitaCanada.org

Thank-you

SakyadhitaCanada
Association of Buddhist Women